

Earth Day Student Contest 2017

In recognition of Canada's 150th birthday, we're asking students to envision what they want for the environment in the next 150 years of our country. This contest asks students to dream big on what should be done and how they plan to make a difference. Whether it's solar panels on every home, or forests on every street, we want to hear their vision for the environment, and how they fit into it, well into the future!
